

How We Find You Lower Energy Rates

Energy Independence. More Choice. Less Waste.
Providing Competitive Electricity and Natural Gas Rates for Thousands of Business, Here's How We Do It

For more than 20 years, Energy Professionals has specialized in finding competitive electricity and natural gas rates and virtually managing energy costs for companies across America.

Initial Energy Analysis Starts With Sending Us A Recent Energy Bill

Your journey to finding lower energy rates starts with an initial consultation and a complete analysis of your unique energy requirements, which helps us better understand your energy needs, any pain points, as well as your business' energy goals.

Whether you operate out of one or multiple locations, by sending us a copy of recent energy bills, we're able to access the necessary information and review important factors that will help us find you competitive rates, such as your rate class, peak load, and your general energy demand.

From the minute I met this company I knew they knew what they were talking about. Their dedication and care to their clients and strategic partners really show. I would recommend them to anyone who is trying to create an energy-efficient home or business over any other. - A.B.

The lowest energy rates, available in your utility zone, providing multiple options

2

The language of any energy contracts to ensure they cater to your unique energy needs.

3

The best possible terms to help you secure rates, protecting you against future increases.

Now Our Work Begins, Finding Your The Lowest Rates Possible

Having completed our initial energy analysis, we work with an expansive network of all the top retail energy suppliers that service your utility zone, to find the most competitive rates and contract terms that best fit your energy usage needs, protecting you against routine fluctuations and potential increases in the energy market.

Once complete, we provide you with a full presentation that contains the top three to five rates we've found, their respective contract terms, any available green energy options, and our recommendation as to what rate, contract, and term that will benefit your business the most.

Benefits You Can Enjoy With Lower Energy Rates

Finding lower energy rates provides you a real opportunity for energy savings.

Customers with fixed-rate plans have certainty over their energy budget.

Retail energy suppliers often offer you green energy options, at lower rates.

Being able to shop for lower energy rates empowers you with a choice over your energy bills.

"Great Company! They really know the energy industry in and out. Good customer service as well. I highly recommend using them as your energy consultant!"
